The Australian Woodturning Exhibition

On behalf of the Committee of the Whitehorse Woodturners, I welcome you to the 2009 Australian Woodturning Exhibition. At the time of writing I am confident that the high standard of workmanship and the innovative designs we have come to expect, will be evident in this years exhibition.

I must first of all acknowledge the contribution of the Koonung Woodturning Guild for their work in organizing the Exhibition in previous years and to thank them for facilitating the transfer of expertise and funds to the new Committee, also to the new committee which comprises members from eight clubs, Maroondah, Manningham, Northern, Sunbury, Koonung, Forest hill, and Yarra Turners. These members have given a great deal of time and effort in learning the procedures and arranging this years Exhibition.

To our generous Sponsors who have continued their support in these difficult times I extend our grateful thanks and request that members, especially prize winners support their businesses mentioning our appreciation, for your information they are listed at the end of this catalogue.

The committee also wishes to thank the Judges for giving their time and expertise in conducting the arduous process of comparing the various pieces to ascertain the category winners.

To Paul Barton for his work in arranging the display of the pieces to their best advantage we extend our appreciation.

To all exhibitors, we thank you for entering for without you there would not be an exhibition, we hope that you have gained from entering, either as a placegetter or by the recognition of the fine quality of your work as it is displayed in this fine setting.

The committee congratulates the entrants whose pieces gained the ultimate recognition of their work by gaining out a prize or award.

Hoping you all enjoy the exhibition.

Ray Dennis
President, Whitehorse Woodturners.

Committee members - Paul Barton, Daryle Broadhurst, Charlie Chamberlain, Lois Green, Joe Infanti, Sue Leitch, David Shing, Stuart Watson, Helen Wraight & Ken Wraight.

JUDGES

Our thanks are extended to the judges once again for performing what is a difficult task. The committee has appointed two teams of judges, one team judging the Open and Intermediate Sections and the other the Novice and Student sections.

Judging the Open and Intermediate Sections

Vic Wood

Vic was born in 1933 in Melbourne and trained as a teacher in 1957-59 (Art and Craft) and commenced turning full time in 1983. He has been a member of the woodworking elite of Australia for two decades and is as well known as a teacher and lecturer as for the objects he creates. Vic has won many awards in 1977 a “Tribute to Vic Wood” was held at the “Turnabout Downunder”, for his contributions to woodturning throughout Australia and the World. He has exhibited 127 times throughout Australia, New Zealand, America, Canada, Japan, England and Germany. His work is published in various journals and articles in books throughout the world. He has judged, lectured, demonstrated and conducted hands on workshops throughout Australia and overseas.

Con Clavant

Con started his working life as a trainee technician Radio Branch with the PMG Department in 1954. He was stationed at various locations including 3WV Dooen, Radio Australia Shepparton and Radio Lyndhurst, the overseas radio service of the ABC. In 1959 he commenced work in the TV industry at the ABV2 transmitter Mt Dandenong.

Con has always been a creative type and 1983 saw him take up oil painting in the traditional realist style. Some fifteen years later saw a change in direction and woodturning became a new and all encompassing passion.

He joined the Peninsula Wood turners Guild immediately and is still an active member today. He was also a foundation member of the Warburton Valley Woodworkers.

Con enjoys turning both spindle and faceplate work, with red gum burls and natural edge material being some of his favourites.

He has developed a great eye for detail, especially for workmanship design and faults.

Ian Robertson

Ian started woodturning as a hobby in 1977 to get away from his normal job as a mechanic. In 1981 Ian could not do his normal job any longer so he took up his hobby as a living. He started in the usual way by making bowls and other craft items and trying to sell them at the craft markets but his passion has always been spindle and architectural or structural turning. Ian was approached by a couple of larger building firms and turned verandah posts, balusters and king posts for them which led to other work including turning of nine metre poles for the Scientia building at Sydney University. Ian also does turned work for restorers and artists. Other major works he has done are numerous large bollards, light posts for New Quay, the Boardwalk at Yarra's Edge and numerous decorative posts for councils all over Australia.

Judging the Novice and Student Sections

Neil Thompson

Neil is a founder and first president of Maroondah Woodturning Club and is now a life member. He is the conductor-critic of Show and "Tell" countless times. He has visited turners and galleries in all the mainland states and New Zealand. He is a frequent demonstrator at the club and twice at other clubs, also at Maroondah Festival and Lilydale Shows.

His career in Design Engineering has helped in demonstrating novelty items and home-made lathe fixtures. His family background in building and patternmaking has taught appreciation of fine woods and workmanship. He has attended numerous demonstrations by professional turners. He has developed an interest in miniature turning from Sue Patton.

Cliff Walsh

Cliff Walsh commenced employment as a patternmaking apprentice and worked as a tradesman for a couple of years before deciding to change his career radically and become a school teacher. Retiring after thirty-two years, Cliff became a registered builder, building houses and additions.

After a few years he retired from full time work and returned to his first love-fine woodworking. During seventeen years of virtually full time woodturning Cliff has explored many aspects of the activity, including ornamental turning, hollowing, embellishing and teaching. Laminating and built up turnings are his specialty. He has shown his unique methods to many wood turners via presentations in their club rooms.

Cliff has had success in woodturning competitions both in Victoria and interstate. His most recent prizewinning was first prize in built-up category at the Australian Woodturning Exhibition in 2008

Stuart Hoxley

Stuart has been employed in many teaching roles at TAFE institutes and technical colleges as a teacher within the building and trade industry of building and construction on site. He has also been involved in the training of apprentices within the building industry including cabinet making.

He has also been a volunteer with the Wonga Park CFA for 12 years in the position of Portable Fire Appliances Officer.

He is currently a successful business owner employing sub-contractors and apprentices, as well as the Manager Building & Transport department at Swinburne University TAFE Division.
